The Boy Who Fell From The Sky

In the world that Zed lives in, people have no real idea what Demons look like! Can you design a Demon that will send fear coursing through the hearts of people?

Here are some of the ways the Authority has described Demons:

- “animals with an unquenchable thirst for blood”
- “a black-furred monster that walked on two legs but hunched over on to all fours when hunting for blood, larger than a wolf, with sharp yellowing teeth, a snout and completely black eyes”
- “green fur and horns, with hooves for feet”
- “beasts that struck you down before you could even scream for help”
- “A Demon is made up of darkness and hate. If you see their eyes, it’s already too late.”
- “skin like a lizard”

Can you come up with a description more terrifying than the Authority’s?

The Boy Who Fell From The Sky

In the book, we find out that all of the Demons are being held in a place called Underworld. What do you think Underworld would look like? How can it hold that many Demons? And more importantly, how are we going to break them out of it?

Draw your version of Underworld:
